

CORPORATE EVENT VIDEO PRODUCTION RATECARD 2019

What We Mean

Fundamentally, the video output from corporate events usually falls into one of two categories - creating a “buzz” promotional video that captures the essence of the event, or content-driven briefs, which are focussed on recording the presentations or seminars so that the information can be distributed later. We can also achieve both from the same event. We recognise that events, and the output from them, can sometimes have an immediacy or ‘PR’ aspect to them. We have a track record of turning round projects very quickly when needed; in an extreme example we have provided an edit onsite within 1 hour of completed filming.

Core event video production services we specialise in include;

- Workshops, launch events and seminar recordings
- Interviews & panel discussions
- Promos for public events, exhibitions, trade shows

What It Involves

With the filming being in a live situation, planning is important. For presentations it is useful to know about the environment, length of speech etc. For event promotional films, knowing the running order, highlights, and what needs to be covered when, can affect how the project needs to be resourced. If there are any deadlines these should be clarified in advance.

We’ll often arrive well before the event starts, as an advance recce is usually not undertaken. We work as unobtrusively as possible, usually without lights or trailing cables. What can be vital is to get a good audio feed from a sound desk, or advise any speakers that they will need to wear a radio microphone.

What You Get

We’ll discuss the project with you, by phone or possibly in person. We’ll look at any examples you may have of what you are trying to achieve, and we’ll point you in the direction of anything relevant within our portfolio.

We’ll book the filming date. If possible, we’ll accept from you any branding collateral or other material necessary for the project (logo, company fonts, names of participants etc).

On the filming date(s) we’ll use the appropriate camera and sound equipment to cover what’s needed - this will differ depending on whether we’re filming presentations, or just the general throng, or both.

For presentations, we’ll need a copy of the Powerpoint (or similar) file, to be edited into the video. A draft edit will be sent as soon as is practicable. At this stage the branding and visual finesse may be in a ‘proof of approach’ form, which we work with you on to fine tune.

One or two further edit sessions may then take place to complete the final video. If necessary, editing can be done collaboratively at your office, or a cafe, to work through any complex changes without the need for lengthy emails.

Then, the final video will be sent electronically. If we’re handling YouTube work for you, we can upload directly, as well as send the copy for you to keep locally.

PROJECT SPOTLIGHT

We worked on event projects to showcase the work of an inventor and horologist. One of these projects was the launch of one of the inventor’s products at Design Shanghai.

At the event we covered the buzz of the evening and shot interviews with key stakeholders in the project. From this, the interviews were edited into standalone videos, and soundbites used in the main event highlights video.

CLIENT TESTIMONIAL

You have captured the mood and happiness of the day perfectly. This will not only provide those that were there with a tangible record of their day but also provides something of an insight to those that were unable to attend on this occasion. To say that I am delighted with your work would be an understatement. Thank you!
